ABOUT ME

As an anthropologist and Japanese studies degree holder, my studies have driven me to Japan to study and work. After a period of volunteering in Paris, I am now evolving in the exciting and creative web development industry. I can quickly adapt to change and I love facing new challenges everyday in an international environment. After practicing few months as a freelance web developer, I am ready to work in a company for the position of front-end developer.

WORK EXPERIENCE

Web developer @Edda Rabold

Germany (remote) | 06 – 09/2022

Internship: I designed and developed a creative online portfolio for a client from scratch, using MAMP stack and Kirby CMS.

- I designed mock-ups of the app using Figma
- I created animations and made the website dynamic
- I made the website fully responsive and SEO-friendly
- I used a CMS to make the content customizable by the client
- I worked under an agile methodology, using Trello's Kanban for project management and regular meetings with the client
